COURSE CONTENT

UNIT 1	UNIT 2	UNIT 3	UNIT 4
Liberty, equality, fraternity, or death! Delve into the world of the French and Russian Revolutions to discover the origins of the protest movement: where ordinary people changed their lives and grabbed hold of their destiny to forge a better world.	Fight the good fight alongside our First Nations freedom fighters in a unit of study focused on the demolition of the Apartheid System in South Africa and the Tent Embassy in Australia.	Nations have responded to crisis in a variety of ways but two in particular, Germany and China, responded by installing totalitarian dictatorships. Take a journey along the road to power taken by Hitler and Mao Zedong and hear from those who resisted the call.	James Bond may have been fictional but the time that inspired him was very much real – the Cold War – where two superpowers fought for supremacy by any means necessary. Discover this world of spies, secrets and subterfuge before delving into a conflict that defined a generation – the Vietnam War.

REAL PEOPLE TALKING ABOUT...

“Modern History is interesting because we get to learn about wars and dictators. It is also interesting to see how recent events have impacted our society, plus we get to be critical of the choices from the past.”
