UNIT 1	UNIT 2	UNIT 3	UNIT 4
Australia’s Place In The World: Understand how Australia’s natural resources have given us an advantage on the world stage. When globalisation hit Australia capitalised on its natural resources to carve out a place in the world’s economy. Gender and Identity: Gender and self-identity are increasingly in the spot light today – explore the significant impact these have throughout the world.	The Arts and the Community: Art has power – communities large and small use this power to bring people together. Explore the positive power of art and attempt your own version of community influence at a school level. Science and Technology: We live in age of science and technology, a time of discovery and improvement. Discover the impact of modern technology on our lives and the communities we live in - including personal technology, medical and law enforcement.	Today’s Society: Explore cultural diversity in the community and how this shapes the way we respond to human rights. By the end, you will be asking yourself – can I really trust the media’s view of difference in our world? Into Relationships: Personalities are complicated and poorly understood. What is a personality and how is it developed? When you developed your own personality, what influences did you absorb? Do you really understand what shaped the person you have become?	World of Work: You can become the most sought after member of the workforce – someone who easily maintains positive relationships, knows all about workplace structures and understands the ins and outs of the workplace environment. Legally it Could Be You: The law is essential to daily life. It influences, and determines a person’s choices. If you really want to be prepared for life in the real world, you need to know your rights when it comes to law and order.
